Why FDS?

1.

Focus on your business.

While we make your operations running, you can focus on your business growth, expansion, or simply have free time to invent something that will change executive aviation, forever!

Focus on your workflow.

Engaging FDS will release you some workforce to make inevitable developments in your team and company. You can now make more marketing campaigns or PR events, or hunt for some new aircrafts to manage... anyway you'll find something to do when we make your fleet fly!

3.

Focus on saving money.

Obviously its cheaper to outsource operations, and its not just a slogan but a sever capital saving every month! It will be easier to budget your yearly operations costs and build it into your clients pricing scheme. To ease your analysis we prepare a precise cost calculation based on your country of operations and fleet size. You will be amazed by numbers!

Focus on control.

Even if you outsource your operations, the amount of control over it remains as if it was kept in house. Imagine, we make things on your disposal only, we execute your orders, we fulfil your wishes. Its like letting a limousine driver get you the precise address instead of driving on your own. There is no room for interpretations, we are meant to do what you require. No more. And as we work 24/7, we are always available for you to check and to control. We invite you to conduct audit at our HQ any time you feel its necessary.

Focus on data safety and confidentiality.

As these are a fragile items, seemingly to all companies in the executive aviation we put additional investments on protecting you company and clients data. Over 15 years at service we have always made a very special treatment to our clients issues related to secrecy of operations. It's like a foundation of our job, and a stone-base of our reputation. We exist because discretion is our habit. Sorry, but we can't operate otherwise.

Focus on flexibility.

You can always outsource only a small part of your flights

when it's such a busy season or when some of your people are out off work or you need some time to consider if its worth or outsource ferry flights only or night shifts only or Africa flights only or charter trips only or moustached pilot trips only it goes all ways... Make it suitable for your schedule and business idea.

We are here to help!
